AFFIRMATION OF FAITH

(When both parties are Catholic)

I hereby reaffirm my faith in Jesus Christ, in the Catholic Church, and in all that the Church teaches and professes. I promise to practice my religion actively* to the best of my ability. I have every intention of doing all in my power to have any children born of this marriage baptized in the Catholic Church and pledge to do all that I can to provide them with formation in the Catholic faith to the best of my ability. I reaffirm my belief in marriage as a sacrament and affirm that I am committing myself to an exclusive partnership of the whole of life with my intended spouse that is ordered to the well-being of us both and to the procreation and upbringing of children and after consummation, unable to be dissolved except by death of one of the parties.

STATEMENT OF INTENT

Since one or both of the parties is Catholic, that party/those parties was/were obliged to marry according to the manner prescribed by the Catholic Church. Since that manner of marrying was not followed, when the marriage vows were previously spoken, the previous exchange of vows did not create a marriage at all. Understanding this and recognizing that I am not therefore presently married, I hereby declare that I am now marrying my intended spouse and commit myself to marriage, which will be a permanent and exclusive relationship. Furthermore, I commit myself to a marriage that will be ordered to the procreation and education of offspring and the good of the spouses. I give my consent freely, having placed no conditions upon it, and only after mature deliberation concerning the rights and duties of the matrimonial covenant and my ability to fulfill them.
